QUAIL HUNTING BRINGS UP QUESTION OF LAW

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 26. (Sp.)—The hunting of quail in this section and the belief that there are now no game laws in the state, has met with a conflict of opinion, which the attorney-general has been asked to settle.

The last legislature passed a game law which was submitted to a referendum because of objectionable license features. This law was killed and some contend that with it all other laws on the statute books. Others contend that the 1908 code laws still obtain, as the killing of this measure by referendum, which was in no wise affected by the new game law, except by its approval by the people of the new law, which repealed all old laws. This ratification, which the old law was in no wise affected, and it is believed now obtains.

Under this construction the hunting of quail is illegal until Nov. 1, although many hunters have already taken the field.

RELIEF ASKED FOR FIFTY MISSISSIPPI ORPHANS

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Miss., Oct. 26. (Sp.)—Citizens here have just had a reminder of the danger of overlooking the responsibilities in caring for the orphans in the war areas of Europe. Miss Mary Rogers, who travels for the Mississippi Home Finding Society, a benevolent organization for bringing together homeless children and childless homes, has just made a strong appeal to the people of Blue Mountain in behalf of 50 Mississippi orphans now in the temporary custody of the society. The board has adopted a card system to prevent overcharges and it was announced that the present list of two hundred names for a month for each individual may be reduced to a pound and a half in order to make the shortage caused by overcharges.
